Re: Request for Review of the Decision of the Universal Service Administrator
by Asociacion de Escuelas Privada, San Juan, PR, File No. SLD-265532
Federal-State Joint Board on Universal Service, CC Docket No. 96-45
Changes to the Board of Directors of the National Exchange Carrier
Association, Inc., CC Docket No. 97-21 /

Dear Ms. Salas:

Pursuant to Subpart I of Part 54 of the Commission's rules, the Asociacion de Escuelas Privada ("Escuelas Privada") hereby seeks review of the determination of the Schools and Libraries Division of the Universal Service Administrative Company ("SLD"), dated March 22, 2001, rejecting its FCC Form 471 application (#265532) for failing to meet Minimum Processing Standards.<sup>1</sup> In support thereof, the following is shown:

I. Summary and Statement of the Facts

The attached Fund Year 4 Form 471 - Rejection Letter (hereinafter "Rejection Letter" attached as Attachment A) rejected Escuelas Privada's application because one element of Block 1, Item 4A, providing the mailing address of the applicant was inadvertently omitted. Escuelas Privada's Form 471 (copy attached as Attachment B) included its correct street address (150 Ponce de Leon Ave), state (PR) and zip code (00901), but did not include the city part of the mailing address due to an apparent printing error. The 471 form, which was filed manually, was prepared using a form downloaded from the SLD web site in the Excel format. The response to the city box (San Juan) was entered into the city box and appeared on earlier drafts of the form, but for some unexplained reason, did not print on the final version of the form filed with the SLD. This omission unfortunately was not noted by Escuelas Privada personnel prior to the filing of the form.

Apart from this one omission, the form was properly completed and contained all requested information.

II. SLD Minimum Processing Standards Were Improperly Applied in this Instance to Reject Escuelas Privada's Application

The Minimum Processing Standards are designed to require an applicant to provide at least the minimum data necessary for SLD to initiate review of the application in an efficient manner, given the thousands of applications that must be processed each year. Appropriately administered, they provide "an efficient means to minimize unnecessary administrative costs by reducing the number of substantially incomplete applications that SLD must review and process."<sup>2</sup> While the use of minimum standards has been approved by the Commission as a necessary processing measure to allow the SLD to function efficiently and minimize administrative costs, the Commission has also stressed that the Minimum Processing Standards may not be arbitrarily applied to reject applications for trivial or inconsequential reasons.

Only recently, for example, in the Naperville Community Unit appeal, the full Commission held that the SLD erred in using the Minimum Processing Standards to reject an application for insubstantial reasons. Specifically, emphasizing the Commission's primary objective "to ensure that schools and libraries benefit from the schools and libraries universal service support mechanism as contemplated by the statute...,"<sup>3</sup> the Commission held that the Minimum Processing Standards should not be applied to reject applications where the omitted information was readily ascertainable from other parts of the application and the application was otherwise complete.<sup>4</sup> In so doing, the Commission approved the use of Minimum Processing Guidelines only to the extent that the application failed to provide “information in any form” that was important or “critical” to the processing of the application.<sup>5</sup>

In this case, the omission of one element of the mailing address did not even violate the SLD's Minimum Processing Standards posted on its web site. For Block 4A, the SLD's Minimum Processing Standards and Filing Requirements for FY 4, require the “Billed Entity Street Address, including street, city, state and zip.” The Minimum Processing Standards further indicate that “if any one of these items is blank, and the information cannot be obtained from the page headers, the Form 471 will be rejected.” The page header on each page of Escuelas Privada's application includes its previously used SLD assigned Entity Number (209649) from which its full address, including city, is readily obtainable. As the Instructions to Form 471 state:

“Your Entity Number is a unique number assigned to your organization or institution by the SLD as a means of identifying you every time you file an application or otherwise communicate with us. If you have applied for universal service funds in previous years, or have been identified in an application filed on your behalf, you have already been assigned an Entity Number.” FCC Form 471 Instructions, p.7.

The requirements of the Minimum Processing Standards were satisfied, as the missing city information was readily ascertainable from the Entity Number in the page header.

In addition to the Entity Number, the Form 471 application (Block 5, Question 12) also referenced Escuelas Privada's earlier Form 470 form by file number, so the city information was also easily obtainable from this document in the SLD's database. The name of the city could also have been identified from the zip code information that was provided in the application using any number of public sources routinely available in most offices, including printed zip code directories and electronic databases available over the Internet. It could also have been easily obtained through use of the other contact information in the application, including the applicant's telephone number, fax number and the Contact Person's e-mail address.

Moreover the omission, standing alone, was not material as the remaining address information included in the application provided sufficient information to communicate with Escuelas Privada's via its mailing address. Using the mailing address information provided (street address, zip code area and state), the SLD was easily able to mail its rejection letter to Escuelas Privada and this letter was, in fact, delivered by the postal service in the normal course of events.

Under the standards adopted by the Commission in Naperville, the application of the Minimum Processing Standards to reject the Escuelas Privada's Form 471 application cannot be justified. First, the one bit of omitted information which caused the application to be summarily rejected was not essential or even important to the processing of the application. As shown above, sufficient Billed Entity Information was provided to permit the SLD to contact the applicant by telephone, e-mail, facsimile transmission or, indeed, through the Street Address information provided.

Second, as in Naperville, Escuelas Privada's application provided sufficient information for the SLD to ascertain the omitted response "without requiring a detailed review of the application."<sup>6</sup>

As shown above, the name of the city was easily ascertainable by reference to Escuelas Privada's previously used Entity Number (Block 1, Item 3 and page headers). It was also ascertainable through the reference on the Form 471 (Block 5, Question 12) to the applicant's previously filed Form 470 Application in the SLD's database which reported the applicant's address, including the city part of the address.<sup>7</sup> Moreover, the omitted city part of the mailing address was readily ascertainable through use the zip code or other contact information provided in Item 4A.

Third, except for the inadvertent omission of the city part of the address, all remaining portions of the application were carefully and fully completed to provide the full base of information needed by SLD to review and process the application. As in Naperville, Escuelas Privada's "FCC Form 471 reflects the diligence and good faith we expect from applicants."<sup>8</sup>

III. Conclusion

In this case, as in Naperville, the administrative costs of accepting the application "are minimal and are outweighed by the objective of ensuring that schools and libraries benefit from the schools and libraries universal service support mechanism as contemplated by the statute."<sup>9</sup> Indeed, this case presents a far more arbitrary and egregious application of the Minimum Processing Standards than in Naperville for, in reality, there was no violation of the Standards posted on the web site and no administrative costs are involved. The inadvertent omission of one part of applicant's Item 4A mailing address did not prejudice SLD's ability to contact or communicate with Escuelas Privada. The minor omission was easily rectifiable by reference to the applicant's Entity Number or Form 470 in the SLD's database, by reference to any number of public database sources, or by simply e-mailing the applicant. Nor would have the omission in any way effected the SLD's ability to process the substantive parts of the application.<sup>10</sup> Plainly, to reject an application out of hand for one

8. Naperville, supra at ¶ 14. In Naperville, the Commission also relied upon the consideration that the information requested was new to the form for the fund year, thereby leading to the possibility of applicant confusion. The absence of this consideration in this case is far outweighed by the more minor nature of the information that was inadvertently omitted which did not adversely affect the SLD's ability to process the application.

9. Id at ¶ 15.

10. In contrast, in Naperville, the omission went to the heart of one substantive aspect of the application.

isolated and minor omission elevates form over substance to the point far beyond that required to carry out the SLD=s administrative responsibilities in an economical and efficient manner.

For these reasons, in accord with the Naperville Order, the SLD=s rejection of Escuelas Privada=s application should be reversed and the application reinstated for processing consistent with the SLD=s normal procedures.

Respectfully submitted,
